The Intercultural Leadership Program (ILP) provides leadership education and training to Concordia University, Irvine (CUI) students who choose to participate in the program. The Office of Student Development and Leadership invites first-year students, transfers, and current CUI students to apply for the Intercultural Leadership Program Scholarship. This scholarship is part of a leadership development program that challenges students to sharpen their skills and abilities as leaders and advocates for diversity on the CUI campus. The ILP compliments students’ personal and educational experiences by enhancing their skills and knowledge necessary for effective leadership and diversity understanding.

Each year we accept up to ten new Scholars who will be awarded $3000 per year ($1500 per semester). Upon successful completion of each student’s first year, he/she will have the opportunity to renew the ILP scholarship and become either an Advanced Scholar or Coordinator. Students who become Advanced Scholars will continue to receive $3000 per year and will also assume another leadership position on campus. Those students who take on the Coordinator position will be responsible for organizing other Scholars within one of our Core Programming Areas and will be awarded $5000 per year ($2500 per semester).

The ILP plans and implements cultural awareness programs, conducts diversity training on campus, provides a support system for underrepresented students, helps international students integrate into the campus community, participates in community service, and assists with research on student experiences on campus.

BENEFITS
The ILP enhances your college experience and provides a learning environment outside of the classroom. The ILP is designed to enhance your understanding of different cultures, provide an opportunity to work with a diverse group of students dedicated to promoting awareness and celebrating differences, teach members of the campus community about diversity, teach you to facilitate conversations about diversity, and learn to work with people with perspectives different from your own. Students will also be able to evaluate their own beliefs and work on their own leadership and ethnic identity development. Whatever career you choose, these skills will enhance your leadership opportunities and success for many years after your time here at Concordia University, Irvine.

Other benefits include: gain financial assistance, be a respected leader at CUI, learn effective leadership skills, personal and social development, cultural enrichment, learn to communicate effectively, learn to advocate for change, research opportunities, and work with a new and great group of people (peers, staff, faculty).

QUALIFICATIONS
- Minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.0
- Some leadership skills and understanding (e.g., student government, volunteer, youth leader)
- Passion for promoting ethnic and cultural awareness and working with people from diverse backgrounds
- Responsible and able to work in a team

REQUIREMENTS
- Active involvement as an advocate for racial reconciliation, diversity, and multicultural awareness.
- The ability to plan and implement effective programming related to diversity issues.
- Community service, off-campus cultural trips, and regular development training.
- Attend mandatory ILP Leadership Training during the month of August 2007, before the school year begins.
Intercultural Leadership Program (ILP): Core Programming Areas

You may be wondering how students in the Intercultural Leadership Program (referred to as Intercultural Scholars, or Scholars) spend their time throughout the year. The ILP is a 10 hour per week commitment. Intercultural Scholars create and implement programs designed to educate the CUI campus community on various topics of interests and provide a supportive and inclusive environment for all CUI students. The following is a brief introduction to the seven core programming areas of the Intercultural Leadership Program (ILP):

Heritage Months/Events: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will coordinate all events for the cultural heritage months (plan 2-4 main events sponsored by ILP and organize other events that other campus groups are planning for the months), design and distribute the calendars for the Heritage Months, advertise events, submit all events to the campus-wide calendar, and coordinate other scholars to carry out tasks as needed. The heritage months are as follows: Latino Heritage Month, Indigenous People’s Month, Black History Month, Women’s Herstory Month, Asian Heritage Month, and European Awareness Events.

Service Activities: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will be responsible for establishing at least one on-going relationship with a group or organization in the local community for a service project/partnership. You will also be responsible for organizing and coordinating other service options throughout the year for the ILP program and CUI campus community.

International Student Support: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will be responsible for supporting all international students in their transition into the CUI campus, local community, and the residence hall community and enhancing their experience at CUI. You will also be in charge of programming efforts aimed at educating students about the various cultures represented on campus. This programming group will work closely with the other university areas that work with the international student community as well.

Social Justice Programming: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will be responsible for promoting awareness and educating others on local and global issues involving social justice. This can be in the form of programming, newsletters, university forums, and/or on-going events which promote social justice issues on campus and in the local community.

Moral Compass Series/Campus Connections: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will be responsible for implementing, advertising, and coordinating regular student forums and town hall meetings on current events and/or important topics for conversation. This group will work closely with university staff, administrators, and faculty.

Large Scale Events: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will be responsible for working closely with the ASB Commissioner of Clubs & Organizations and Organization Presidents on 2-3 major institutional events per year. Planning for these events should commence at the start of the academic year with follow-up throughout each semester. These events may include, but are not limited to: the CUI Harvest Fest, Culture Fest, and Gospel Fest.

Recruitment/Retention: Scholars who choose to work with this programming group will work in conjunction with the Admissions Office to assist with the recruitment and support for underrepresented students on campus. With additional training from the CUI Admissions Counselors, these Scholars will facilitate ILP participation in Preview Days, college fairs, and open house events. These students will also assist with creating a welcoming and inclusive campus environment for underrepresented students, and create and implement programs as needed.

While this is not a comprehensive list of programs, this should paint a clearer picture of what our Scholars do each year. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact the Office of the Associate Dean of Students for Student Development and Leadership at (949) 854-8002 ext. 1454 or email Dr. Christina Lunceford at christina.lunceford@cui.edu.
