Meet Walt Herd

MCAA's Newest Team Member

Walt Herd is the new Technology/Customer Service Director for the Concordia University Master of Arts in Coaching and Athletic Administration program where he is responsible for technical training, development and assistance for MCAA Program faculty, staff and students. He will serve as technical liaison for all MCAA Program activities, helping utilize Blackboard and other technologies to their fullest extent. Walt comes to MCAA with 4 years at Concordia under his belt. His good reputation for service to faculty, staff and students precedes him in his new position with MCAA. Prior to Concordia, Walt has worked with IBM, ITT and Ingram Micro (technology distributor) among others. At Ingram, Walt prepared the concept, development and execution of a world class web application to assist customers and company associates with their marketing needs; this experience will serve him well to collaborate with faculty, staff and students in their online experience in the MCAA program. Walt grew up in New York and gradually worked his way to the Left Coast after going to college at Denver University with a short diversion to the University of Hawaii. He has a BA from the University of Arizona and did post grad work at Arizona State University. Walt has two daughters and 4.75 grandchildren. His son-in-law, Jeff, is a professor in the CUI music department. Welcome, Walt.

MCAA Student Testimonials

"Just thought I'd let you know what a wonderful time I'm having with this program. It has allowed me to really evaluate what I do and how I do it, and it has given me a little boost! I was very nervous about starting the program because I wasn't sure how things would go, but I'm SO glad that I chose to go for it! Thanks for making this whole experience so awesome... I look forward to all that is to come!" -Criselda Tapia

"The AD institute was PHENOMENAL. Rob Wigod should really be commended for what he delivered. It was the MOST practical course I have ever taken at any level. This course was the exact reason that I signed up for the MA in Athletic Administration course. Not for philosophy and rhetoric, but for the screws and nails that build the house of Athletic Administration!!!

The amount of work that Rob put into that program to make it the very best was amazing. I knew that when he gave us folders with our names printed on them personally, it would be a great week! No detail went overlooked." -Chris Fore

"If you have been putting off working on your Master's degree for whatever reason, you should seriously consider getting started at Concordia. I just finished my first class (8 more to go!) and it was the only class that I have ever taken that has helped me improve as a coach. The classes are taught by instructors in our field in a collaborative atmosphere. We share our knowledge and research and learn from each other. Earning my Master's is something I've always known that I have to do to move up on the pay scale and possibly become a college coach, but at Concordia it is actually something I am looking forward to." -John McGaha

"I just wanted to send a note of thanks for this wonderful program you are putting together. I finished up in May and have been fortunate enough to land a new position as Athletic Director at Bonners Ferry High school in Northern Idaho. I truly enjoyed your program and it was instrumental in landing this position, as numerous members on the interview committee commented that my portfolio and completion of this program separated me from other candidates. Thank you for all your help and take care!"-Kris Knowles

"This program was very beneficial in providing me with the tools and organization skills for my current job with the Milwaukee Brewers. I feel having this background will help me continue in my pursuit to move up the ladder in the organization. I would recommend this program to any person pursuing a career in coaching, athletic administration, and professional sports. You will walk away from this program feeling like you can apply it immediately to your profession." -Southern California/Hawaii Area Scout, Milwaukee Brewers
